Psychological Support

Reproductive Medicine and
Gynecological Endocrinology (RME)

Dear patients,

Couples with difficulty conceiving can experience a profound crisis. It is common that couples feel overwhelmed, sad, ashamed and hopeless, which may be detrimental to the relationship.

Every couple deals with this challenge in a different way.

In addition to medical infertility treatments, the RME offers personalized psychological support from psychologists and specialists in psychosomatic gynecology. We invite you to take advantage of this service, either in the form of a one-time assessment in advance of planned treatment or in the form of ongoing psychologic support during therapy.

Our services

In individual counseling sessions or couple conversations we care for you:

- in times of difficult decisions regarding potential treatments
- when dealing with an unsuccessful therapy attempt
- during prolonged therapy cycles
- but also when faced with the prospect of a future without children
- in an acute crisis
- as a one-time psychological assessment
- for longer-term support needs
- and much more...

Contact and Registration

If you want to schedule an appointment, you are welcome to contact Dr. phil. Verena Ehrbar directly, or you can approach a member of the medical/nursing team of the RME
