

Information evenings 2026

The obstetrical department of the University Hospital of Basel offers regular information evenings in English about pregnancy, birth, and care of the mother and newborn after delivery. During our presentation, which is conducted by members of our team including doctors and midwives, you will be introduced to what we do and the different interdisciplinary teams that work closely with the obstetrical department.

You will have plenty of time to ask questions and to get an impression of the atmosphere in our hospital from a slide presentation.
